INTERESTING READING FOR DAMES AND DAMSELS.

Fashion at the Sea-Shore-Current Notes of the Modes and Hinte Up-to-Date Housekeeper.

AR HARBOR is the scene of unugalety this eason, owing to he influx of sociepeople, who know to the full all the delights of the beach and bathing.

Perhaps at no other resort can be seen so many unique bathing costumes, many of them bizarre beyond words, and others dainty enough for the wearing of any belle. The fashion of dawdling on the beach in bathing clothes, of lolling on the sands for hours, with no idea of entering the water, reminds one of gay Trouville or Dieppe, where the bath dress is only an excuse for an exhibition of the form and not at all for use.

The girl who prepares herself for a genuine tussle with the waves is quite a different creature from this fluttering butterfly, who poses for admiration. She equips herself as for battle, with ho fly-away toggery and not a useless Her bathing frock is tailormade, though it may be of silk, mohair, cravenette or flannel.

There is nothing risque in its design, or suggestive in any way. It is built for use, and not display. To go with it is a long bath cloak,

For burns, take equal parts of linseed oil and lime water mixed, and pour over the burn. A cotton or linen cloth should the be wrung out of the mixture and laid upon the wound. If this preparation is used, it will be found to remove pain and give a great deal of comfort. Pure glycerine is a most excellent remely also. When first applied it causes smarting, but this soon ceases, and the actual pain from the burn is much relieved. Glycerine is said to favor rapid healing. The sooner it is applied after the accident the quicker good results will be obtained.

These Things Forget.

If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life, forget your neighbors' faults. Forget all the slander vou have ever heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the faultfinding and give a little thought to the cause which provoked it. Forget the peculiarities of your friends, and only remember the good points which make you fond of them. Forget all personal quarrels or histories you may have heard by accident, and which, if repeated, would seem a thousand times worse than they are. Blot out as far as possible all the disagreeables of life: they will come, but they will only grow larger when you remember them, and constant thought of the acts of meanness makes you more familiar with them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday, start out with a clean sheet for to-day, and write upon it for sweet memory's sake only those things which are lovely and lovable.

many times, but they are as rashionable to-day as ever and show no symptoms of declining from favor. They are more and more trimmed-ruches of gauze, plaitings, light ornamentations of all kinds, bows, beaded embroidery and applications of guipure. Capes of silk as well as other cloth are embroidered in openwork over a contrasting lining or a lining of the same color, but different material. There is quite a fancy for combining different goods of the same shade, a new cape model being composed of mastic cloth embroidered in openwork over a silk lining of mastic, the trimming being ruches of mastic gauze.

It is now being the thing to have the hosiery and silk petticoat match the gown exactly in color. This is a very extravagant fashion, for it necessitates a separate petticoat for every gown and unlimited supplies of hosiery of all

An illustration is given of a costume of silk having a white ground with eucalyptus green and pink stripes. The godet skirt is plain. A figaro bodice of white ribbed velvet opens over a chemisette of white lace, which is retained at the waist by a narrow belt and paste buckle and falls in a fichu end upon the skirt. The revers of green silk lie over a large collar of white lace. The bouffant sleeves, which are very tight around the forearm, are of green silk and have epaulets of white lace. Bows and choux of green silk adorn the shoulders.

Old Hats Renovated.

Never throw away old hats, no matter how dusty or forlorn they may look. Renovate them. It is not nearly so impossible as it seems. For instance, take an old straw or felt hat. It is dusty and misshapen. Whisk it thoroughly and get a hot iron ready.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneorgans on which it acts. Menu Cards

Menu cards are nowadays very expen sive. At one time they were very plain in design, but the present fashion runs greatly to artistic decorations. The bill of a swell dinner must have a dainty back and front, and decorations in fruit and flowers are most favored. At a dinner recently given in society the flowers that decorated the table were reproduced on the menu cards, being ecially designed for the occasion Little rural views and pictures of cottages in colors and etchings are also popular, and for these designs good artists are engaged. All sorts of occasional dinners have their proper cards. Those given on yachts are headed with the proper colors, with the vessel's name underneath, while for hunting parties appropriate sketches cover the outside; and all big clubs, sporting and social, have special designs of their own. Among the different shapes and sizes he most popular is a twofold screen

Fashion is now making for herself a middle course between the two extremes of tightness and bouffancy. Sleeves and skirts are decidedly moderating in size, but have not yet become mere close cases for the limbs. There is much room for the exercise of individual taste in color, shape and trimming. Treating Russia Leather.

Russia or brown leather may best be ated with ordinary saddle soap, and this is the method which is recommended: Sponge off the dust, rinse out the sponge in clear water and squeeze it nearly dry: Then rub into it as much soap as it will contain; rub that in turn thoroughly into the leather, and leave it to dry. Then polish with a chamois, either with or without the addition of a little cream.

For Muslins and Cottons. Pray remember, all you who wear muslins and cottons, that if you wish your garments to look fresh, it will be necessary to iron them every day before donning them. It is troublesome but necessary, as nothing looks worse than a creased and crumpled gown. One reason for the popularity of washing silks is that they are less lishle to look "tumbled" than cotton.
